Dear Friends,

I'd like to invite you to join me on a fantastic community journey to Eretz Yisrael later this year, a 12-day Temple Sinai trip to Israel on December 23, 2009 - January 3, 2010, a fantastic way to experience Israel with your Jewish community!

Together we'll discover the Old and the New that combine to make modern Israel so wondrous. We'll deepen our ancient roots to the Land of Israel as a people, and meet Israelis to strengthen the bonds that connect us with the lives of Israelis today. This trip will have a focus on social justice in Israel, with special attention to Israeli-Palestinian peace and cooperation issues, and also to the unique Boston-Haifa cooperation projects. We'll explore Jerusalem, as well as the Negev Desert, which many people consider the most beautiful parts of the country. And we'll share two Shabbatot together – one in Haifa, with a sister Reform congregation, and one in Jerusalem.

This trip is family-friendly. Adults and children of all ages are invited to join in what will no doubt be an unforgettable journey for us all.

Already about 14-15 Temple Sinai members have said they will participate in this exciting trip to Israel. If you are interested in coming, too, or if you want to learn more, please contact me at RabbiVogel@SinaiBrookline.org, or be in touch with these Temple Sinai members who are "ambassadors" for our trip: Mike Klau, Sheila Shulman or Caryl Hull. A sample itinerary and pricing information will be available shortly. Come discover Israel with your Temple Sinai community. I can't wait to share it with you!

B'shalom,

Rabbi Andy Vogel
